

GMI Research Seminar Series

2007–08

Sponsored by

Lloyd's List
Shipping • Insurance • Freight • Finance • Logistics

Greenwich Maritime Institute

The Greenwich Maritime Institute (GMI) is a research and postgraduate centre of the University of Greenwich dedicated to advancing an understanding of national and international maritime activity in the present, past and future. Specialisms are maritime policy, history and management, and the research seminars reflect these interests.

The seminars are on Wednesdays at monthly intervals from October to March, 6–7.15pm, in the Windsor Castle Room, room 010, Queen Anne Court, Old Royal Naval College, Park Row, Greenwich.

They are open to all students, staff and members of the public. Tea and coffee are available from 5.30pm in GMI Common Room, room 002, Queen Anne Court.

The GMI is in Queen Anne Court.

The nearest train stations are Maze Hill (main line) and Cutty Sark (DLR).

For information, telephone Suzanne Bowles on 020 8331 7688.

Further information can be found on our website www.gre.ac.uk/gmi.

Programme

17 October 2007

Applying the collision regulations or why people don't just follow the rules

Speaker: Dr Phillip Belcher – Professional Development Officer,
Honourable Company of Master Mariners

14 November 2007

Has Britain ceased to be a maritime nation?

Speaker: Christopher Lee – Writer, Broadcaster and Historian

12 December 2007

Starting a tourist business in Sydney Harbour – challenges and opportunities

Speaker: John Whiteley – Management Consultant and Visiting Lecturer, University of Greenwich

16 January 2008

The contribution of cruise tourism to port city economies – chances and challenges for cruise destinations

Speaker: Frederick Naumann – Head of Corporate Relations & Corporate Affairs,
Sartori & Berger GmbH & Co., Germany

20 February 2008

The repatriation of Spanish soldiers from Denmark, 1808: A study in government, logistics and the consequences of maritime superiority

Speaker: James Davey – Research Assistant, “Sustaining the Empire” Project,
Greenwich Maritime Institute, University of Greenwich

12 March 2008

Theory and reality of oil pollution over a 30-year period in Shetland (with reference to the Braer oil spill in 1993 and the lifetime operation of the Sullom Voe Oil Terminal and Port)

Speaker: Professor William Ritchie – Director, Aberdeen Institute of Coastal Science & Management,
University of Aberdeen

How to find us

University of Greenwich,
Greenwich Campus,
Old Royal Naval College,
Park Row, London SE10 9LS

Road

From the M25 take the A2 turn-off to London and join the A2. Continue forward when the road becomes the A102. Take the turn-off signposted Greenwich (A206). At the roundabout take the first exit to Greenwich. Continue along the A206 for approximately 1 mile. The campus is on your right.

Please note, however, traffic is heavy in Greenwich, parking around the university is limited and the regulations are strict, so we advise visitors to use public transport whenever possible.

Train

London Bridge/Cannon Street/Charing Cross to Greenwich station, or to Maze Hill on the same line if travelling from Kent.

Tube

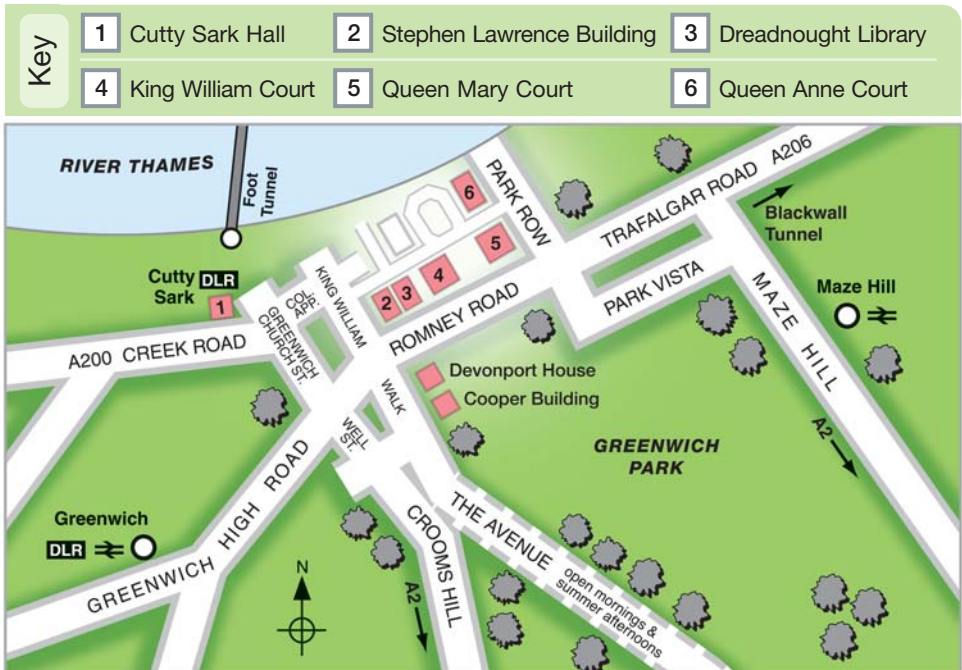

The nearest Underground station is North Greenwich on the Jubilee Line. Then take a 188 bus to the campus.

Docklands Light Railway (DLR)

Cutty Sark station is close to the campus and is on the line to Lewisham. If travelling from London on the Tube, change for the DLR at Bank or Tower Gateway.

Bus

Log on to www.tfl.gov.uk/buses for the latest information.

the
UNIVERSITY
of
GREENWICH

University of Greenwich

Greenwich Campus,
Old Royal Naval College,
Park Row, London SE10 9LS

Enquiry Unit

Freephone: 0800 005 006

Telephone from outside the UK:

+44 20 8331 8590

Fax: 020 8331 8145

Fax from outside the UK:

+44 20 8331 8145

E-mail: courseinfo@gre.ac.uk

Website: www.greenwich.ac.uk

This document is available
in other formats on request