Greenwich Business School

Open Day Event Guide
21 November 2026

UNIVERSITY OF GREENWICH

Greenwich Business School

Welcome from the Pro Vice-Chancellor and Executive Dean

Choosing where to study is one of the most important decisions you will make, and I am delighted that you are considering joining us at Greenwich Business School.

We are a welcoming learning community built around opportunity, ambition and support. Our students come from many different backgrounds, but they share a common purpose: to build the knowledge, skills and confidence to shape their future. That is what we are here to help with, academically, professionally and personally, and it is a responsibility we take seriously for every student who joins us.

Our latest National Student Survey results, published in July 2026, are our strongest yet. In the Business and Management subject area, they show us* averaging 13th overall across Teaching, Assessment and Feedback, and also place us 6th for Student Voice, out of more than 100 UK universities ranked by the Guardian University Guide. That is not a coincidence. It reflects a School that listens to its students and acts on what it hears.

This progress is not a single good year; it is a trend, and the Guardian University Guide 2027 shows it clearly:

- Business and Management has risen 56 places since 2024, including a jump of over 40 places in the past twelve months alone. Accounting and Finance is up 48 places over the same period, and was in the top scoring group (for this subject) in the UK for value added in 2026, remaining comfortably above the sector average this year. Marketing and PR has climbed 38 places since 2024, with its 2027 value added score now placing it among the 12 highest scoring universities for this measure (for this subject).

(*Based on the Business & Management subject area for institutions which were included in last year's (the 2026) Guardian University League Table.)

From your first day, you will be part of a genuinely student-centred community on our beautiful riverside campus, a community that combines academic rigour with real-world relevance. You will get to know your programme team, and you will have your own Business School Academic Tutor and Student Adviser throughout your studies: real, dedicated support, tailored to you, in line with our 100% You mission. Our courses in accounting, business, finance, marketing, and management are designed not just to build understanding, but to help you apply it in ways that are practical, interesting and meaningful.

We place a strong emphasis on your future career. Dedicated employability advisers are based within the Business School, working full-time for our students, alongside strong employer engagement, hands-on learning and industry events. Our academic and student success teams are there to ensure you graduate with the skills, experience and confidence employers are looking for.

Many of our graduates go on to successful careers across a wide range of industries. Others use what they learn to start their own businesses, which can be combined with study, or to continue their academic journey.

Equally important to me is the sense of belonging you will find here. We are proud of an inclusive and supportive environment, where students are known, valued and encouraged to succeed. You will be backed by dedicated academic tutors, student support teams and a vibrant student community; and we believe it matters to celebrate you too, through events such as our Big Breakfast community mornings and dedicated celebration events throughout the year.

We are ambitious, for our School and for you. In joining us, you become part of a Business School that is investing in its future, committed to excellence and focused on helping every student achieve their full potential.

I very much look forward to welcoming you to Greenwich Business School

Dr Gary Brown
Pro Vice-Chancellor and Executive Dean

It’s your day!

4 tips to make the most of your Open Day

1. Plan your day

Take a few minutes to look at the event schedule beforehand. Are there subject talks you definitely want to attend? Any buildings you’d love to see in person? Maybe you’ve got questions about placements, assessments, applications or wellbeing support?

2. Chat to students, not just staff

Our staff are great at explaining the detail. However, we also recommend chatting to our students too and asking them what it’s really like here! Look for our Student Ambassadors (in blue) and find out about their first week, what they wish they’d known before joining or, perhaps, what a typical day looks like for them.

3. Explore

Uni is about more than just lectures. You’ll be studying and, likely, socialising on the campus so take in how it feels. Spend some time exploring the library, Students’ Union spaces, cafes and quieter corners. Having a look at the local area is also recommended and, if you’re thinking of living in halls, take an accommodation tour.

4. Support services

No one plans to struggle, but it’s worth knowing where the support is before you need it. At our Open Day, you’ll find friendly teams from our various support services who’ll be able to answer all your questions.

About us

Calling change-makers, bold thinkers, innovators and disruptors!

Greenwich Business School is a diverse academic and student community from around the globe and we'll prepare you for the challenges and opportunities of business today and tomorrow.

Whatever your ambitions, we are committed to you as a student - whoever you are, wherever you're from, whatever you want to achieve. Whether it's the focussed content of your course, support for your entrepreneurial ambitions, the chance of mentoring from one of our industry contacts, careers guidance to land that dream job, help to build networks and make contacts or just our great campus facilities, we've got you covered!*

And you'd be following in the footsteps of countless Business School alumni who've gone on to make a real difference in business and society.

(* Please note that some opportunities in this brochure are only available to students on taught courses (i.e. are not open to research students e.g. those on on MPhil or PhD degrees).)

Experience

Our lively and dedicated academic and support staff work hard to make sure students get the most out of their studies.

Little wonder, therefore, that we have some very satisfied students:

Guardian University Guide 2027

- 4th in London* in Accounting & Finance for student satisfaction with teaching
- 4th in the UK in Economics for student satisfaction with feedback

Complete University Guide 2027

- Joint 5th in London in Business & Management for student satisfaction
- 1st overall in London in Tourism, Transport, Travel & Heritage Studies

Furthermore, the University as a whole was awarded TEF Gold in 2023 - an award recognising Greenwich's outstanding performance in student experience and outcomes. Fewer than a quarter of the universities and colleges assessed attained this top rating.

What our students say

"Our professors brought so many different industry experiences into the classroom. They'd share stories from their own careers, which made everything feel way more relevant."
Maddy, BA (Hons) International Business

Your future in safe hands

Future-focussed

The Business School's taught courses are designed to give you the knowledge and skills to launch your career.

Our curriculum on taught Business School courses is supported by advanced learning technologies and is designed to develop critical thinking, creativity, and digital fluency. Students may expect to engage with real-world business challenges through experiential learning such as 'hackathons', simulations, and strategic role plays.

We know that experience matters too, and many of our undergraduate courses - and a number of our postgraduate taught courses - in the Business School offer the chance of a placement year. Taken, at undergraduate level, between the second and third years of full-time study (or, for our 'with placement' postgraduate degrees, in the second year) it's a great opportunity to get workplace experience and put learning into practice.

We also work to provide, for Business School students, opportunities for industry insight, networking opportunities and - recognising the importance of entrepreneurship - have a specialist team (the 'Generator') available to help students launch their own ventures.

Through the University's Careers Team, there is access to tailored career support and advice, career fairs where you can meet employers and find out about graduate roles and there's even a chance to apply to be selected to be mentored by a professional working in industry.

What our students say

"Our module leader Emma invited a guest speaker from TikTok, who shared what goes on behind the scenes. It was fascinating to learn how things really work at one of the biggest digital platforms. That kind of insight makes the link between academic learning and career goals feel much stronger."

Melanie, MSc Digital Marketing

"Now after my placement, my skills have grown and have been cultivated and I know I can accomplish my dreams of being a creative director."

Nataly, BA (Hons) Marketing & Brand Management

Facilities

Enjoy a stunning campus with great facilities

The campus offers modern teaching spaces, a well-resourced library, a student hub complete with bar, gym, café and more. Plus, the Business School has two rather special purpose-designed spaces of its own.

Bloomberg Trading Floor

The Bloomberg Trading Floor is designed to offer Greenwich Business School students a chance to access Bloomberg terminals - a financial and analytics platform providing access to news, market data, unique insight and a range of tools.

The space is used in teaching students on many of our taught Accounting & Finance and Economics courses. You can find out more about the space from Dr Sohan Sarwar - Course Leader for BSc (Hons) Finance & Investment Banking - by clicking here.

Facilities

Digital Marketing Suite

Our Digital Marketing Suite is used by students on some modules of some marketing degrees* and might also be used by those who apply for - and are then selected to join - 'Gen C', our student-led marketing agency. You can find out more about 'Gen C' by clicking here.

The suite is a great space for marketeers to create, collaborate and analyse.

Designed to give its marketing student users something of a sense of being in a marketing or advertising agency-type space, the room's Mersive software enables the real-time sharing of participants' creative work to others in the space. This functionality is designed to facilitate greater engagement and creativity and allows for activities like in-class sprints and hackathon-styled activities.

Hear more about how the Digital Marketing Suite is used in teaching from Dr Ryan Yung, Senior Lecturer in Digital Innovation by clicking here.

* To find out which marketing degrees use the Digital Marketing Suite please ask the Marketing teaching team.

Focus on: Undergraduate employability support

How we help undergraduates prepare for - and stand out in - today's job market

At the Business School, employability support for undergraduates (those on BA and BSc degrees) starts from day one. Employability isn't an add-on here - it's built into every undergraduate Business School degree through specialist modules and industry-informed teaching.

Beyond the course, you will also have - as an undergraduate - access to expert careers support from the Faculty Employer Engagement & Placement Team. This dedicated Business School team includes experienced careers professionals and former recruiters who understand exactly what employers are looking for.

One second-year undergraduate student who recently secured a placement said: "The Greenwich Business School Employability Team provided outstanding preparation and coaching, offering insights and constant encouragement throughout my journey, which ultimately helped me secure a placement at L'Oréal."

Read more about what we offer undergraduates here. If you're interested in Master's level study, chat to our team today to find out about employability support for postgraduates.

Faculty Student Advisors

Support from day one.

If you join us in Greenwich Business School, you won't have to figure things out on your own. Whether you're an undergraduate student or a postgraduate taught student, from your very first day right until the end of your studies, you'll have your own Faculty Student Advisor (FSA) - one of our friendly team whose job is to support you, guide you, and help you succeed.

Your FSA won't just wait for you to reach out - they'll also check in with you too. Throughout the year, they'll be in touch with you about key deadlines and make sure you're feeling confident, supported, and on track.

Because at Greenwich, you're not just another student - you're someone we genuinely care about.

Read more about our Faculty Student Advisors here.

The Generator

Be the founder of your future

The Generator team is dedicated to helping you turn your business idea into a reality - whether that's starting a new venture or scaling an existing business!

The team also runs the University's annual Enterprise Challenge, a competition which provides winners - entrepreneurial students who want to pursue a business idea - mentoring, training and a cash prize! And, additionally, the team runs a range of other great events, including #GreHacks - hackathons which can hone your problem-solving and presentation skills. Find out more about the Generator here.

"I have actively engaged in various activities and events, taking part in start-up programs, hackathons, and enterprise events. Through these experiences, I have developed two start-ups, solved and won three consulting projects with real clients like Amazon Web Services, had the opportunity to run a Enactus Greenwich society focused on helping other students grow their businesses and run social enterprises."

Ishan, BA (Hons) International Business

Location

Join us and you'll be based in a vibrant London area and across the Thames from Canary Wharf, one of London’s key financial and business centres

Enjoy our stunning campus - part of an acclaimed UNESCO World Heritage Site and a spot popular with film-makers.

On the doorstep of the campus is a buzzing town centre and a tranquil Royal Park, and the draws of central London - along with venues such as the O2 and ExCel London - are in easy reach.

You'll also be in an international business city - a globally-important financial, trade and service-industry hub. With a wealth of businesses and organisations virtually on the doorstep, you’re that much closer to large numbers of graduate employers.

Click here to find out what the Greenwich area - and beyond - has to offer.

Enjoy today's event and thanks for coming!
